Cairn diametre approx 14m including scattered stones, with central cist consisting of two remaining upright stones. On the north side, three or perhaps more upright stones form the kerb, rest of kerb stones possibly missing. On east side, a smaller cist burial has been inserted into the cairn. Site includes two possible wall structures, and a circle of marsh grass suggesting another structure.
